Community Participation

(i) Involvement of community at village level should be ensured while assessing the felt need identification of problem areas of sanitation coverage, choice of appropriate technology, motivation and social mobilisation, cost sharing for better utilisation, maintenance for sustained development etc.

(ii) NGOs can play a crucial role in supporting the community organisations.

(iii) The role of subsidy should be underplayed and for this purpose, alternate delivery mechanisms have to be supported.

Role of Women

Women participation in the programme should be ensured by encouraging sanitary facilities in all girls school, creating a cadre of women tors and organising awareness camps, training women as masons, using the Anganwadi infrastructure to motivate mothers, involving selected DWCRA groups to manufacture materials to be used in low cost sanitation and also managing sanitary marts; involving ANMs to promote the sanitation-health linkage; orienting the women members of Gram Panchayats on various sanitation, themes, formation of mothers' club to promote rural sanitation, making Mahila Mandals more effective channels of communications, etc.

Monitoring of IRDP and NREP Programmes

1787. SHRI S. K. T. RAMACHANDRAN : Will the PRIME MINISTER be pleased to state :

(a) what agency Government have appointed to verify and check the accuracy and varacity of report submitted by the State Governments and other agencies in regard to the IRDP and NREP programmes; and

(b) what steps are being taken by Government to increase further employment opportunities in the rural areas?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT (SHRI UTTAMBHAI H. PATEL) : (a) In so far as Integrated Rural Development Programme (IRDP) is concerned, State Government reports are accepted and no further verification is carried out in respect of these reports. However, the voluminous data available through Concurrent Evaluation of IRDP is analysed and used for comparison with the information furnished by the State Governments. As regards National Rural Employment Programme (NREP), this programme has been discontinued w.e.f. 31st March, 1989 and a new programme called Jawahar Rozgar Yojana (JRY) has been launched after merging erstwhile programmes of National Rural Employment Programme (NREP) and Rural Landless Employment Guarantee Programme (RLEGP). In respect of N. R. E. P. programmes no separate agency had been appointed to check the accuracy and veracity of the report submitted by the State Governments.

(b) As regards increase in the employment opportunities, it is proposed to increase the coverage of beneficiaries under IRDP to increase self-employment opportunities during the Eighth Five Year Plan Period. Similarly, the JRY Plan outlay is likely to be substantially increased during the Eighth Five Year Plan for creation of larger employment opportunities in the rural areas.
